Deaths.

Mr. E. S. Holl, at the General Hospital, Kuching, Sarawak, on June 29th, Private Secretary to His Highness the Rajah and Governor of Sarawak, aged 60 years.

Social and Personal.

June.

It is with very deep regret that we record the death of Mr. E. S. Holl, Private Secretary to His Highness the Rajah and Governor of Sarawak, who collapsed suddenly in the District Office on the morning of June 29th and died shortly after 4 p.m. on the same day. Mr. Holl was one of the "old guard", and probably the best-known man in Sarawak. He will be very greatly missed. An appreciation will be published in our later issues.

We also record with deep regret the deaths of Ahang Haji Patel bin Ahang Haji Mohamed Kassim and Ahang Haji Ann bin Ahang Haji Mohammad Kassim. Both the deceased were brothers of the Dato Patinggi and both rendered notable services to Sarawak. Appreciations appear on another page.

There was a very large attendance at the "At Home" given by Mr. Ong Tiang Siew, c.s.o., at his residence, Rock Road, on June 6th, in celebration of the wedding, on May 29th, of his son, Mr. Ong Hap Ann, to Miss Lau Hong Sook, daughter of the late Mr. Lau Gek Soon. Nearly all the Europeans in Kuching appeared to be present and there were many representatives of the Asiatic communities.

June 9th, being the occasion of the celebration of the birthday of His Majesty King George VI, was observed as a public holiday throughout the State and all Government offices were closed.

Editor.

In Memory of Herbert, on the 18th June, 1937, in Penang Hospital, wife of S.D. Ahang Ongg, a daughter, named Doreen Maynard.

Visitors to Kuching during the month included Bishop Edwin Lee and the Rev. Dr. Archer of the Methodist Episcopal Mission, Singapore, who arrived from Sibu by the s.s. Rajang on the 23rd. Both visitors returned to Singapore by the s.s. Circe on the following day.

Mr. T. S. Boyd, the Chief Justice, returned from casual leave by the s.s. Circe on the 13th. Mr. Boyd visited China and Japan and his itinerary was a refreshing change from the usual "round trip" by the P. & O. line which has been singularly popular amongst Sarawak Government officers, during the last year or two. Mr. Boyd went by train from Shanghai to Nanking and Peiping, and then entered Japan at Kyoto via Maekden and Karuva.

Mr. S. Harrop and Mrs. Harrop left Kuching on furlough on the 12th. We wish them a successful leave. Mr. Harrop's work at the Rendev Dockyard has been taken over by Mr. E. R. Evans, who arrived with Mrs. Evans on May 31st. We welcome Mr. and Mrs. Evans to Sarawak and trust that they will enjoy the six months that they intend to spend here.

Another newcomer to Sarawak to whom we extend our welcome is Mrs. D. McNaughton, who arrived with her husband Mr. McNaughton, the Kuching Agent of the Chartered Bank, on the s.s. Rajang from Singapore on the 7th.

Two flying boats visited Kuching during the month. The first one arrived on the 17th and on the 18th proceeded to Bintulu, Barara, and Labuan. It returned to Kuching on the 20th. When it attempted to start for Singapore on the 22nd, it was found to be suffering from engine trouble, and another flying boat, which was already scheduled to arrive on the following day, brought a relief engine. Both made a successful departure on the 24th.

H.M.S. Herald returned to Kuching from Sulu on the 20th and left again on the 26th. As usual her stay was all too brief, but in forty-eight hours matches of football, hockey, cricket, and bowls were played, and a most successful entertainment was presented at the Sarawak Club.

The death in England of Mr. S. W. Harris is reported. Mr. Harris joined the Sarawak Government in 1897 and retired on pension as Engineer of the Sadong Collieries in 1922. He had been suffering from heart trouble for some time but his death was quite unexpected. He leaves a widow to whom we tender our sincerest sympathy.

Mr. H. D. Aplin succeeded Mr. A. A. Robbie as Government Agent, London, on June 1st. Mr. Aplin joined the Sarawak Civil Service in 1898 and, after a long and distinguished career, retired on pension in March 1934.

The Secretary for Native Affairs relates, in his monthly report for May, that on May 22nd he proceeded to the Telang Telang islands to be present at the annual semaik ceremony, which took place on the morning of May 23rd. This ceremony, which is a survival of the Sarawak Malays' former animism, has lost most of its popularity. The ceremony consists of a party of Malays, led by a jemamy, sailing around the islands and reciting prayers to the spirits of the sea. A landing is then made on the main island, where a mock battle takes place in which the invaders are the conquerors. A similar ceremony also survives in Trengganu, Malaya. "Anak Singapore" in the Straits Times, in a paragraph concerning "the pagan rite of semaik Kasai," quoted the following extract from the 1936 report of Mr. K. R. Jarrett, acting British Advisor. "For three days the fishing community gives itself up to feasting and play, during which time no boats are allowed to land or leave. On the third day a white bullock is slaughtered and after the usual feast, the head is floated out to sea accompanied by the incantations of a powerful duffering to the spirits of the sea." It would be interesting to know if this ceremonial rite was once common to all Malay states, and, if so, why it has apparently survived only in the territories of Trengganu and Sarawak.

CORONATION OF THEIR MAJESTIES KING GEORGE VI AND QUEEN ELIZABETH.

SARAWAK'S LOYAL ADDRESS.

The following is the address made by His Highness the Rajah to Their Majesties the King and Queen:

To Their Most Gracious Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth,

The Rajah of Sarawak presents his respects only to Your Majesties on the occasion of Your Royal Coronation.

The Rajah and all his subjects and all the subjects of Your Majesties in Sarawak most heartily offer to Your Majesties their loyalty and devotion and it is their earnest hope that a personal affection for Your Majesties and a true loyalty to the Throne may long abide the many races and peoples of your Empire in a living fellowship of faithful and willing service."

The following letter was received from the Colonial Office by the Sarawak Government Agent, London:

"Downside House,
4th June, 1937.

"Sir,

I am directed by Mr. Secretary Overseas to refer to your letter of the 18th of May, and to inform you that the Address from His Highness the Rajah of Sarawak has been laid before His Majesty the King, who has commanded that an expression of Their Majesties' appreciation and thanks for this kind message on the occasion of Their Coronation may be conveyed to His Highness.

I am, etc.,

Wyness F. J. Howson."

Coronation Medals.

A supply of large Coronation Medals has been received from London for sale as souvenirs of the coronation of His Majesty King George VI. These medals, with a diameter of 2½", are in fine silver and are enclosed in a red leather case. The price is $20.00 each.

The medals are of a very handsome design, bearing on the obverse the profile of His Majesty King George VI and on the reverse the profile of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth. Specimens may be inspected on application to the Secretary, Kuching, to whom all other intending purchasers should send their orders.

Proclamation Day.

Barn's Review

At 2 p.m. the sports were started and ended at 5 p.m.

At 3:45 p.m. the schoolmaster announced the winners of the sports various prizes including Japanese toys, etc. Four boys were awarded medals for wearing Malay national dress in school every day. These prizes were awarded in order to encourage boys to put on national dress both during school and afterwards.

6.30 p.m.—A Malay Burmese was performed by school-boys for the first time in Rangoon. There was a great gathering of Thaung people, which included the aristocracy of Rangoon.

Instructions in Malay were given by the school master on the subjects of loyalty to the Raja of Sarawak and the benefits of using national dress, and the reasons for our existence.

Lastly the whole gathering prayed to God for the long life and prosperity of our King and his descendants. The schoolmaster requested the absence of Young Van, Officer-in-Charge, Mats, and Hsiai Yunnan, D.G., both of whom had been invited but could not be present owing to the pressure of issuing rubber garden stamps. The schoolmaster, Abang Median, hopes fervently that this kind of Celebration will happen every year in Basong.

Bent at Mr. H. S. Bell.

The sudden death of Mr. H. S. Hall in Kuching hospital shortly after 4 p.m. on June 26th will be deplored by all his many friends in Sarawak. Mr. Hall had appeared to be in his usual good health until Friday morning, when, while talking to the Rev. Dr. Oliver in the latter's office, he suddenly collapsed. He was hurried to hospital but never recovered consciousness, and died in the afternoon of the same day.

The funeral took place at 11:30 a.m. on Wednesday, June 20th. There was a large concourse of visitors of all ages. Mr. E. Parrott, the Officer Administering the Government, led the procession behind the bier to the grave, and the pall bearers were Messrs. Colvert, Middlemass, Reynolds, Brinkin, Baird, and Fawcett. There were many wreaths, some of them anonymous. Those bearing labels were from Their Highnesses the Duke and Duchess, Mr. and Mrs. Parrott, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Jay, Katherine and Chen, William and Elsa, Messrs. Green, Darby & Co., Ltd., Mr. G. T. Bates, Tom and North Passos, Mr. R. F. Sinclair, Mr. and Mrs. Low Siew Kee, All Banks of the Sarawak Chartered Bank, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kelly, Mr. Tan Soon Tee, Messrs. Paul Morris & Co., Ltd., Mr. Middlemiss Carpenter, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lee.

On Prasanna.

In these days when people all over the world are talking of the threat and danger of war, it should be a cause to think for a while of enemies of a different nature, of a type that are not likely to endanger human life, or to go around shooting bolts at harmless individuals.

It would appear at first sight that we must look to the animal and vegetable kingdoms to find such a type. Indeed, it is well by almost common knowledge that in both these kingdoms, there are enough and plants which prey upon each other. Very often the variety of one animal becomes the prey of another, and so on past a third. Much successful work has been done in checking the depredations of a fungus upon a plant of commercial value by introducing a natural enemy of that fungus.

It is then with some interest that one reads in the Malayan Agri-Horticultural Association's Magazine that the ants "are among the most formidable agricultural enemies of countries." The same article points out that what we are pleased to call white ants are termites and not ants at all.

Here then we have two natural remedies which could be used for the control of the human race. If the houses of our houses are being attacked by white ants, all we have to do is to import a colony of ants, and clear the ring. If on the other hand, we are infested with ants, we clear the ring for a gang of white ants.

I find this hopelessly logical myself, but I may be biased. Since the loss, it is not so very long since that we were advised to fight our mosquito hordes the best with a complex, glistening mixture, which seemed far more likely to attract ants than mosquitoes.

I fear, however, that instead of helping the method outlined above for fighting the two pests, we shall continue to pollute the berries and damage them with sticky messes alternately for the rest of our time.

One of the dominant fears of the lives of many bachelors in this country is that while on leave they may get left astray, and come not married. To combat this fear, it is essential that a fighting fund be established in a period of training while still at home on duty, that a strong sense of confidence against the wiles of the fair be doctored and got used to before facing the battle line in England. Following the above methods then, it would appear that the best thing to do is to have all over the country, charming ladies, together with their natural energy, the most charming lady, only then will the unprotected bachelor feel safe and prepared to face his love in confidence born of experience. So forward the movement for fair ones, and still more fair ones, for Sarasak.

VARIETY CONCERT AT LUMEROO.

Those many Kuching Europeans, who, with their guests, managed to recover sufficiently from their Saturday afternoon torpor to reach the Lumeroo Club at 9.45 p.m. on June 20th are greatly indebted to the personnel of H.M.S. Hawklip for a really excellent entertainment.

The one outstanding performance, in an otherwise uniformly good programme, was that of "George and Anna," the "World-Battered Dixieland," which was well up to professional standard in its extremely witty faculty. It must be admitted to Misses Ethel Haupp and Kenneth Collier to know that if, and when, they lose their jobs in His Majesty's navy, they are certain to find employment in Shaftesbury Avenue. We rather wonder that we were bored by "The Royal's Harmony Highlanders." Jazzy songs of American birth or inspiration can be borne with on the validity stage when they are intended to be a novitiate, but, unfortunately, this very talented quartet gave far too good an imitation of the real thing. However it is probably charitable to say so, judging from the enthusiastic applause of the audience, this item seemed to be one of the most popular on the programme.

Those of us who had perused recent newspaper reports concerning a naval court-martial were somewhat surprised when we read that one of the infractions of the entertainment was to be "Beautiful Girls." But beautiful they indeed were, although given at times to a rather undignified habit of lifting up the skirt at the knee when sitting down, and to a phenomenal display of bleeps. One wonders how Commander Hardy escaped the attention of the authorities. Joseph Loyal, as the dancing girl who failed to entertain the Persian potentate in "Cinderella," and Charles Riley, in several characters in "A Few Scenes From Every Day Life," were particularly good. Unfortunately, however, none of these chaps had voices to match their figures and their faces, and so, when it was decided to include a real, serious, sentimental song, complete assistance was required. But no one will suggest that it proved necessary to enlist the services of Mrs. Gordon. It is no disservice to the remainder of the company to say that her appearance on the stage was all too brief.

"Atmospheric" was a brilliant rendering of an old pastime—the "crossing" of voices through a wireless landscape. Apparently when a train conductor, a traveller, and a doctor, get mixed up "on the air," extraordinary things are liable to happen. This item included more jokes indiscriminately far on the wrong side of the conventional border line than any other, which was no mean achievement. The other items were too many and varied for individual mention, but whether we were admiring Charles Lulu's agility with a couple of swords, belying his joshing quidnuncs extolling the virtues of "Gardens," or being astounded by Rochester Terp's representation, in "The Pig and Whistle," that his dog was so thin because he never gave it anything to eat, we were enjoying ourselves immensely. This whole entertainment had obviously been thoroughly and painstakingly prepared and rehearsed, and our sincere thanks are due to Commander Hardy and his officers and men for providing us with such an extremely pleasant evening.

Asleep for A Week.

WATER TOWER

On May 1st it was reported in Tsin-tung that So-at-hin Ta-ha, master of the sailing vessel Moy-Mo-ko, had mysteriously disappeared, and his ship left Tsin-tung for the coast without him. An intensive search was made but no trace of him could be found, and it was generally agreed that he had tired of a seafaring life and had decided to retire into solitude on shore.

Great was the consternation of the people of Binatang, therefore, when, on May 15th, this man was found asleep in a sage-grown. After some minutes of strenuous effort the manager of the sage factory succeeded in awaking him, and found that he was only half-conscious. When he had been revived by copious draughts of milk and broth, he immediately demonstrated a creditable sense of duty by enquiring where his sharpeners were. He was told that it had sailed a week ago, and patiently explained to his doltish audience that this was impossible, as he had sharpened and washed the banner with one of the last ones the previous evening.

He evidently believed in Blasphemy, that God has taken him alone for a work.

Blues of the Month

三

The month began with an American production, the "Tory," which was apparently intended to avenge a wave of anti-lynching indignation; but, when we had seen Spencer Tracy being bitten for sixty minutes on end, we felt, for the first time, that on occasions lynching may be thoroughly justified. The scene outside the jail, when the barrel has popped out through the bars, surrounded by a spray of fire, and glared down at the tormented crowd below, was brilliant from a technical point of view; but it was not sufficient compensation for the pallidness, banality, of the remainder of the picture. We trust that the long, dreary, and ridiculous court scenes, which occupied fully the last quarter of the film, was as much of an insult to the intelligence of British audiences as it was to the intelligence of Washington.

"Jungle Princess" was a refreshing reversion to the "Tarzan" type of film. These pictures are in a class by themselves as far as popularity locally is concerned, and, from a box-office point of view, it is probably only the lack of enterprise of producers that prevents them being shown more regularly. "Jungle Princess" had one night's specially extended run and even then seating accommodation was considerably taxed.

"Anthony Adverse" was a disappointment. Hervey Allen's novel was a poorly written and pretentious piece of work, but at least the author did possess a flair for story-telling, a breadth of vision, and a powerful imagination, all of which contributed to the making of a remarkable, although certainly not a great book. The film had none of these qualities. A singularly futile love story, which played only a very small part in the original novel, was dragged out by the heels, fatten'd up, and made to form the subject matter of the film. Half-a-dozen pretentious lines were thrown in, a thin and colorless Napoleon was permitted to make a short appearance as the adviser of Anthony's wife, and Anthony's adventures in America and Africa were cut down to a minimum.

We do not suppose that Mr. Harvey Allen suffered materially by the adaption of his novel to the film, but the deliberate raising by the powers of celluloid of an excellent story, on account of a perverted preoccupation with "romance," should be legally actionable in the interests of the public if not of the author himself. Incidentally it would be interesting to know whether all the Indians and Europeans resident in Northern Italy in the eighteenth century spoke English with an American accent. It is probably inevitable that the financial side of the film industry should be monopolised by American capital; it will be tragic if the historical side is to be monopolised by American actors as well.

A welcome contrast was afforded by "The Last of the Mahicans." This picture, based, like "Anthony Adverse," on an "adventure" novel, gained everything that the other lacked simply because the adaptors had the wit to base the film on the author's story, instead of selecting those portions of it which they considered would appeal to the servants' half mind. Randolph Scott as Hawkeye and Henry Wilcoxon as Major Duncan Heyward were outstandingly good, the latter giving an excellent interpretation of the stupidity and arrogance of a certain, and by no means extinct, type of "officer and gentleman." In the scenes of the battle for Fort William Henry however what a magnificent game war in the eighteenth century can be made to appear. Whether it really was as magnificently won as depicted may be doubted, but at the office here we cannot help feeling that the combatants must have thoroughly enjoyed any demonstration of martial ploddy, such as the public discussion between the two leaders on the crucial question whether the conquering French could see fit to allow the disengaged English "the honour of war." And when Monroe died, with his enemy, Montcalm, before his respects at the bivouac, and dechristianity was sailing, especially in the background, it was evident that all present were reflecting on the glories that surrounds the Shakespearean funeral.

"The Last of the Mahicans" was preceded by a first-class Walt Disney Silly Symphony entitled "Flame the Elephant." The misery that may be inflicted on an unapathetic elephant by the impulsive length of his trunk, together with the positive ability to overcome an emergency that the same trunk rests on its proprietor, was convincingly demonstrated. It is a great pity that we cannot have a few more of these.

First Division News.

Mr.

The Resident, First Division, reports that he reached Sarawak by P.W.D. lorry on the 20th, leaving Kuching at 8.30 a.m. and arriving at Serian at 11.30 a.m. The road was very rough but in fair condition and several very heavily loaded buses were passed on the way. It appears that every bus which travels along the road is overloaded, some of them being too heavy for the road in its present state. The condition of the road on the return journey on the following day was deplorable, owing to heavy rain the previous night and the passage of heavily-loaded buses on the sodden ground.

Serian-Kuching appears to be very prosperous. There are now fourteen new shops there and applications have been made for four more shops, but these wait until the banks of the present major tributary filled in and the road regraded.

In Kuching nine Chinese were charged with being members of an unlawful assembly, and were fined £1 each apiece, and all were required to sign a bond to be of good behaviour.

The majority of rubber gardens in Kuching have now been registered although a few more come in every day. On the road a large number of persons including Chinese were found to have gardens without titles. All were ordered to apply for titles at once.

On the night of May 10th a constable on duty in Kuching house was attacked by two Chinese, but was not seriously hurt. He claimed that he knew the two but there was not sufficient evidence to proceed against them.

For the first time for many years Bao female prison was empty for nearly three weeks during May. It is possible that this indicates a fall in female crime but it is more likely that the present prosperity enables them to pay their fees and avoid prison.

The death of Orang Kaya Tengri of Kampung Keling, Gunong, is one of the very few recorded deaths from snake-bite in this country.

There were three convictions of Dayaks in the Ulu Bidong and each accused was fined $50 with the alternative of three months' imprisonment. An appeal against the decision of the District Court, in which case, Dayak Kini, tried to prove that Suau Yam Kini had entered his wife away was heard by the Resident on the 31st, and the decision of the District Court was upheld.

The issuing of permits to all owners of rubber gardens in the Bidong District brought to light many holdings unlicensed, or without title, or not reported to the Surveyor Officer in 1936. Many owners made application for demarcation at once but it was impossible to measure all owing to the crowds that came together.

In Landu S.C. No. 481 All was sentenced to one month's imprisonment under section 103 of the Sarawak Penal Code for negligently suffering one, Kosen bin Sabah, to escape from confinement.

Forty-six convicts were caught during the month in the Landu District, and rewards amounting to $28.11 were paid.

Constabulary Sports.

The annual Kuching Central—Depot Sports were held at the Batuksa Ground on the afternoon of Proclamation Day, Monday, May 29th. The weather was fine throughout and the track was in excellent condition, this being the first time the sports have taken place under such conditions. Times, heights, and distances were not of a very high standard but all the events were well contested and some exciting finishes were witnessed. There were nine entries for the rifle-shooting race, necessitating two preliminary heats, the track being too narrow to allow overtaking without running at the same time. Inspector Michael Jain brought off a surprise win in the putting the weight with a distance of 107' 2½" leaving the nearest Sikh competitor by 1' 3". S.C. Hajara Singh sprinted remarkably well and won Victor Trialism with 21½ points against 21 points by his second and for the last year, Kuching Central won the Championship Cup with 67½ points against the Depots' 59. The prizes were presented after the sports by Mrs. W. H. Kelley.

A good crowd of spectators turned up for the sports and the Constabulary Band played selections between events.

Messrs. Birri and Sinclair officiated as judges and Mr. W. J. Chater was timekeeper.

H.M.S. "Herald" v. Kuching

Points at Parawas—Glo Joss, 1937

Both teams took the field at 5 p.m., and right from the kick-off the game was fast and full of excitement. For approximately the first quarter of an hour the Kuching team pressed hard and forced the ball into the net three times, but little did they realize that their opponents were not yet to be easily defeated, and that the "old bulldogs" just had about to get a grip on something. After the third goal had been netted there was a noticeable slackening off in the Kuching attack, something which seemed to suggest that victory was assured, and anyway was easy. For a time there was a halberd battle from goal to goal and then, shortly before half-time, the Herald scored.

Half-time score 3—1 in favour of Kuching.

Right from the commencement of the second half it was clear that our visitors meant business. Apart from one or two loose breakaways they never left the Kuching half. Their passing was accurate and clever and their following up something from which I sincerely hope local players in all classes of the game will have learnt a lesson. There was no element of luck about any of the goals scored. The ball was netted five times in the half, and well and truly netted. To conclude—Well done Herald! We hope to have many more enjoyable games in the future.

Results.—Herald 6, Kuching 3.

Budapest Badminton Association

THE IRISH PLATE

The following is taken from The Sunday Times of May 9th.

Country Note

The two local boys, Low Kin Fatt and Tan Chin Tee, returned to Singapore last Wednesday looking fit and well.

In an interview with them on arrival in Singapore, they spoke highly of Kuching's hospitality and the enthusiasm shown by all Kuching enthusiasts over their visit, so much so that they were actually requested to stay longer than they could possibly manage.

It appears that badminton was only seriously taken up in Kuching some two years ago and it is a healthy sign that in such a small place there are now twenty-one parties affiliated to the Kuching Badminton Association. Most of the players there are very young and in the opinion of the local players should develop into formidable players with some experience.

The European population in Kuching appears to take a keen interest in the game and the championship tournaments held there usually find Europeans among the competitors.

While in Kuching the local boys were the guests of Mr. Kite, the vice-president of the Kuching Badminton Association, and they were entertained to dinner by the president of the Association, Dr. Wong Cheong Way, at his residence before their departure for Singapore.

The results of games played in Kuching were as follows:—

Lower Kim Patti beat Tee Cheng Chan 11—4, 11—4; Yap Chin Tee beat Chan Khock Hian 11—6, 11—6; Kim Patti and Chan Tee beat Cheng Chan and Kee Hian 21—7.

Kim Patti and Chan Tee beat Cheng Chan and Seng Seng 21—2 and 21—6; Kim Patti and Chan Tee beat Ah Chay and Hoe Cheng 21—8 and 22—11.

Lower Kim Patti beat Johari 11—10, 12—10; Chin Tee beat Ah Ng, Balakasari 11—1, 11—4; Lower Kim Patti beat Chan Khock Hian 11—0, 13—7.

Chan Khock Hian beat Yeo Cheng Chan 11—7, 12—12, 11—0; and 13—9; Lower Kim Patti beat Yap Chin Tee 11—7, 13—13 (11—11, 13—11, 11—11); Tan Sui Hua and Yap Chin Tee (retired); Miss Tan Sui Hua and Yap Chin Tee beat Miss Au Goh Kai and Lower Kim Patti 11—11, 10—21 and 22—7; Lower Kim Patti and Yap Chin Tee beat Matthew Hoe and Morgan Chai 21—1, 20—7.

Lower Kim Patti beat Tan Seng Seng 11—2, 11—7; Yap Chin Tee beat Neo Jooi 11—4, 11—3; H. M. Calvert and Kim Patti beat W. J. Clarke and Chan Tee 11—21, 21—10 and 10—21 (10—21); Chan Khock Hian beat Ang Ah Chai 11—2, 10—6.

The following comments made by the local players are passed on for the benefit of the European players.

Serves. This requires considerable improvement, especially in singles play, although the double service is quite good.

Net Play. Very little net play is required to be the players. This is very important, especially when an opponent is exceptionally good in overhead work.

Smash. Jerky shots were never adopted by any of the players. This is a useful stroke to deceive an opponent as to the direction of play.

Backhand. The tendency of the players is to use the backhand side of the racket to sustain a backhand stroke. As badminton is a very fast game, this is indeed a defect which must be remedied at once.

Plan of Attack. The players do not seem to plan their line of attack. This is especially important when meeting a player of about the same standard.

More Singles Play. It appears that the players play more doubles games than singles. They should practise more singles to improve their game rapidly.

The above comments are given more with the idea of improving the standard of the game in Kuching than an effort to criticise unduly the various weak points shown by the Kuching players against the local boys.

Second Division News.

Mar.

The President, Second Division, visited Lubuk Antu from the 5th to the 12th in with some outstanding cases. Two women and one man were sentenced to two years' imprisonment each for killing a newly-born child. This used to be considered only a female offence amongst Dayaks but now it appears to be prevalent. It is seldom that a case can be proved as the usual excuse is that the child died at birth, and an example was therefore made in the present instance.

Another Dayak was sentenced to six months' imprisonment and to pay $600 paid square for casting death by break of the Order relating to the setting of pig-traps. Another case, in which a prosecution was instituted for the same offence, but in which the victim was awarded only remitted in the offender being fined $100 and ordered to pay keepup expenses of $200 and compensation amounting to $10.

In Lubuk Aris, Dabong, of Tawau Tuan, reported a "murder" in his house. It was asserted that some person or persons had posted sticks up through the floor. This kind of story, although it has only just started in this district, is so common now that little notice need be taken of it.

In Sungaieng Lian two Dayaks were sentenced to one year's imprisonment for theft of Dutch money and various other articles from a building. This is his third conviction for theft.

Rubber Restriction Inspector Ahang Sulin, an ex-Native Officer, was dismissed and sentenced to one month's imprisonment at Sibuyan for illegally buying Dayaks for alleged breaches of the Rubber Restriction Orders, and withholding the proceeds of these sales.

In Sungai Tua Penan Muacha, Maliau, and Makang, were returned their pledges, which were placed in the fort about four months ago in the report that they were leading rebels.

In Saratok an inquiry into the cause of death Ngwong's death was heard on the 11th and 12th July. There is little doubt that Sungai Makang Dayaks know far more about the Chinese herbicide deaths than they pretend to, but, as these individuals, which to frame a charge, the four Dayaks held on remand have been released. In this connection pledges have been taken from the Dayaks at Sungai Makang.

Several cases of influenza were reported in Samarai, and amongst the victims was Edmond Jeah, the chief clerk, who was sent down to Kuching for hospital treatment. The Native Officer, Belau, and the Queen's Watch, Edmond, were also patients at the end of the report.

A big increase in the number of beggars attending the Government Malay School in Sarawak has occurred after the parents have been alerted up. It is hoped that Kuching will respond in a similar way.

There is a report from Kuching that peasant fishing nights have not been good.

A Chinese at Sipah was found tapping at 4 p.m. a garden belonging to a Taku Dayak. He was persecuted and fined $10.

About one thousand deals, involving about two thousand ticals, were made out in Belong district during the month. Over $1,700 was collected by the sale of revenue stamps.

Third Division News.

Mar.

On Convocation Day members of the Island Club entertained all British subjects in Sibu to a carry rifle, at which the Resident proposed the health of His Majesty King George VI.

Three Coroner's inquests were held at Sibu during the month. Two were cases of Foochow women drowned in the main river through slipping off floating stages while washing clothes, which is a common occurrence in this district. The third inquest was on the body of a Foochow copper who was found hanging from a rubber tree at Lotekan by a length of galvanized iron wire. A verdict of "suicide whilst of unsound mind" was returned.

The few trips made by the a.s.a. Sapper, which made his final visit to Sibu on the 17th, seem to have doubled the immigration work. Applications for immigrant landing permits ran into some hundreds a month.

In Biawang a verdict of "suicide" was returned at an inquest held on a female Foochow, aged nineteen, who was found hanging from a rubber tree. A verdict of "death by manslaughter" was returned at an inquest on a male Foochow, who died as a result of the injuries sustained when a pile of planks fell upon him at the Bayang sawmill.

A curious law was noticed by the District Officer, Lower Rajang, during his tour of the Telus and Ulu Rajang. A number of young Dayak men were observed to have their lips heavily ringed with the local poison of Bintik Ochuk. Upon inquiry it was revealed that this somewhat elaborate practice was adopted in so that the youths might be concealed to be in the habit of chewing betel-nut, a practice to which, in fact, they were not addicted. It would be interesting to know if this deception is practiced in other parts of the State.

Two Kedah Dayaks were fined one pied and half a pied respectively for take fishing. The sentences were lenient in view of the old age of the accused and the circumstances of the case.

One case of banau, or trial by ordeal of hot water, instituted in order to discover a thief in Kapit, resulted in all the participants being fined and also suffering from scalded hands.

The deaths have occurred of T.B. Haines and T.P. Pick. The former was a retired soldier of earlier days and was forbidden to return to the Guard from his service in the British. The latter was married to Penang's Miss and possessed great power in the State. His loyalty to Government as regards the rebels, however, was not above strong suspicion.

Most of the houses deserted as a result of the Kapit district, on account of deaths during the epidemic, have been occupied under Government permission, aided by a little shanty work in the shape of Gandy's field.

Mr. H. R. Hughes arrived at Kapit on the 27th en route for Long Nawan, Dutch East Indies, via Belaga. As Native Officer Ahang Abut was proceeding to Belaga in connection with Rubber Restriction Mr. Hughes accompanied him on the journey. Apart from three Dayaks taken on in Kapit, the Native Officer understands that Mr. Hughes will endeavor to enlist Kapit labour from Ranau, Pengalut, Tanass, Ulu Heng to take him over the border. The present high water makes it probable that he may have some difficulty in the Ulu Belaga.

On the night of the 29th a terrible storm occurred at Sungai, and both the Sungai and the Kating rose with amazing suddenness. Many households took place and several gardens on the banks of these rivers got rubbed down. In two or three cases the newly-affixed identification plates were lost also.

During the month numerous "long'is" Dayaks, in Naaga Melau district, returned up river, and it is expected that the remainder of these people will arrive during June. They have all been ordered to settle on the banks of the main river, and to build houses of not less than ten doors at strategic points selected by Government. It is probable that these Dayaks will be required to deposit pledges which will be returnable when the permanent houses have been completed. This matter, however, is still under consideration.

On the night of the 25th a Dayak youth was drowned just below Melau. It appears that deceased, who had fever and a high temperature, spent the night with several other Dayaks on the gravel bed, and it is believed that he walked in his sleep and fell into the river. At a coroner's inquest a verdict of "death by misadventure" was returned.

An extraordinary case occurred at Billangan. A Dayak, named Jeng, was sentenced for non-payment of tax, and said that he was willing to pay, but that he dared not, as his father-in-law, Ampok, had told him that he, Ampok, would murder him if he did. The Petty Court sentenced Jeng to two weeks' imprisonment, but the sentence was not executed, both Jeng and Ampok being left at large. The sentence was quashed by wireless transmission, and Ampok was arrested as a suspected bandit and sent to Kuching.

The Malay Show was held on May 26th and 27th, and there were more and better exhibits in the produce sections than last year. Mr. One Day Bet, of the Agricultural Department, came from Kuching and exhibited a large number of vegetables, oils extracted from locally grown products, and instructional articles, including a model and padi area, which was explained to a large number of people by an agricultural assistant who had recently returned from training in wet padi cultivation at Kuala, Taiping District, near Penang. There were also a large variety of pest control exhibits, including traps, poisons, and various examples of commercial and pest controllers.

Fourth Division News.

Mar.

The Senior District Officer, Miri, states that Wednesday, May 12th, being Coronation day was marked by various sports events including a cricket match, an American tennis tournament, and a dance at the Gymkhana Club. Trophies and certificates were delivered at the Gymkhana Club and Miri Recreation Club, and free raffles draws were given to members of the constabulary, children of British subjects, and others.

Owing to a quarrel between the local Imam and Khalifah, reported last month, it was decided that in future the Imam himself should fix the rates and appoint the Khalifah and Bedil as principal witnesses. The usual fee of $1 paid by the contracting parties should be divided as usual, $1 reverting to the Imam and $0 cents each to the Khalifah and Bedil if they attended. If they do not attend the second dollar is to be divided between any other two male witnesses called by the marrying couple.

A film, entitled The Seven, was banned in Miri, as being purely moral and grammatical.

Reports of deaths and epidemics continue to arrive in Marudi from all parts of the Barus district. The dresser will be travelling next month in the Barus, Asik, and Pata rivers and will be away for five or six weeks.

On the 21st news was received of the death of Belok Pang, Kapok Long Wata, of Long Latok in the Apoh river. He was believed to be over ninety years of age and from early in the century worked as a Government chief for over twenty years until he became too old.

On the 4th one Lance-Corporal and three men arrived in Borneo as an escort to cash brought up from Miri by Messrs. G. G. Darbury and Messrs. Anson. During certain periods a patrol was on duty in the Poohor concession to prevent possible primitive measures being taken by natives wishing to sell their holdings against those unwilling to sell. If the deal goes through and all the holdings are purchased it will be very necessary to patrol the area for some considerable time to prevent robbery, as a very large sum of money will be distributed amongst the inhabitants.

The engineer of m.i. Ahmad, skip his Hajj Padi, from both legs badly on the 22nd and was sent to Agam hospital. Part of his clothing caught in the dredge, causing him to lose his balance and fall on the engine.

The District Officer, Limbang, reports that Pengkoh Bedil has complained that his constituents are refusing to join him in rebuilding his residence. He has been informed that, if this does occur, his services as Pengkoh will no longer be required.

There has been a fair amount of infarces prevalent amongst the local natives in Lawas. This has sometimes turned out to be serious.

M.L. Balikpapan cracked into a submerged log between Arap-Arap and Sandar, and, though the rubber crop in Lawas was accomplished, slight repairs to the home were necessary. These are now being repaired by a Brunei Malay who appears to be doing the work very neatly.

Mr. Basley, Coroner Sarawak Museum, returned on the 18th from his trip in the air Trossa, where he had been looking for rhinoceros, and left for Limbang on the 19th. He was unfortunate not to find the traces of any rhinoceros at all, since it had been reported to the Officer-in-Charge only a month before that one had recently been seen on the Trossa side of the British North Borneo boundary. The Marut Pengkoh, Tai Langob, has since reported that this rhinoceros is believed to have been taken by marching Dayaks from British North Borneo, but no details can be ascertained. It is, of course, an impossible border to control and natives on both sides cross over at will.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford eventually left Lawas district on the 11th en route to Damar where Mr. Clifford is expecting to open up a new branch of the estate. Mr. Clifford has been manager of the Lawas Estate for over thirteen years. Mr. and Mrs. Clifford were very well known in the Fourth Division and their name is a word to majors with in four territories. They have been replaced at Lawas by Mr. and Mrs. Thomson from Tambawang.
